

Love will find its way to us

Come take my hand, let's go away,

To a place where only love will find us,

Where pain and heartache will never find us.

We come from a long way in grandeur and turbulence

But I always knew there was a place in the distant

Where mournfulness had evaporated like dew under the sun.

I know you feel the same,

So take my hand, let's go away,

To the unknown distant,

Do not fear because love will always find its way.

We shall soar together like a bird into the galaxy of space

Where only love will find us

Because love always finds its way
